The Yunnan province, in southern China, is the birthplace of tea. This spectacular tea is composed almost entirely of very long golden tips. This exceptional tea is to black tea what the Silver Needle is to white tea: an essential for all lovers of fine teas. The infused leaf has a powerful, deep aroma, with almost meaty, truffle-like notes of damp earth and rich foliage. The liquor is dark, almost black, and its full, generous fragrance evokes cocoa. Undoubtedly the best of the Yunnan teas.

Pronounced fruit (cooked fruit, jam) and vanilla to start, milk (warm milk), chocolate, wood (waxed wood), toasted/roasted aromas (roasted cocoa beans, caramel), a floral hint (rose), a hint of dark honey.
